

DYING FROM WOUNDS GIVEN BY STRANGER

Joseph Killeen Struck at Coney Island by a Man He Didn't Know—Police Suspect William Freeman.

Joseph Killeen, of No. 325 West Twenty-seventh street, Manhattan, is dying in the Emergency Hospital at Coney Island. He was the victim of an assault last Wednesday, of which no report was made to the police until after midnight today. They are now in search of William Freeman, an advertising agent, well known in theatrical circles, who is suspected of having committed the assault.

Killeen had been stopping at Walz's Hotel, on the Bowery, at Coney Island, and was sitting in the restaurant last Wednesday, when a man approached and tapped him on the shoulder. Killeen arose, and as he did so the stranger struck him on the face with what appeared to be a newspaper, closely wrapped. Killeen fell and the man fled. It then developed that a piece of lead pipe was wrapped in the paper. Killeen was taken to the Emergency Hospital, and later sent back to Walz's Hotel. Last night his condition was such that he was again removed to the hospital. The coroner and police were notified.

Suspicion rests upon Freeman, because he has lately been telling his friends that many persons were circulating evil reports about him. Freeman had no acquaintance with Killeen, so far as known, but is believed to have become suddenly possessed of the idea that he was an enemy.

Freeman is said to be the son of a Pennsylvania Railroad official, who lives in Philadelphia. He is believed to have gone there. His wife told the police he had threatened to kill her and other members of the family.

ADMITS BUYING MURDER DRUG.

Stella Bates Declares She Was Ignorant of the Fact that Chloroform Was to Be Used in Killing Rogers.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 15.—Ignorant of the confession made by Leon Perham, Mrs. Mary Rogers still maintains her innocence in the charges that she and Perham killed her husband, and says she is persecuted, demanding her release, saying that she will not run away.

Stella Bates, who is a prisoner with Mrs. Rogers, admits she purchased the chloroform, but says she does not know for what it was used. The defense which will be made by Mrs. Rogers is that she knew nothing of the murder and that Perham, who was in love with her, killed her husband through jealousy. She will swear that Perham followed her and her husband in the streets the night of the murder and that he approached them and asked Rogers to take a walk with him. Perham has gone over the scene of the tragedy with the officers, starting from his own home and retracing every step he took that night. He took them to the little grove where he says they induced him to let them blindfold him and foot as though it were a trunk, showed them where he says Mrs. Rogers knelt while she held her husband's head on his lap as she applied the chloroform, and pointed down the embankment to the lake, where they rolled his body.

KING REVIEWS SHIPS IN RAIN.

Marine Spectacle at Cowes Married by Bad Weather—Almost Four-Score Vessels in Line.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The naval manoeuvres in the Solent to-day were marred by the weather. Torrents of rain and half a gale of wind drove the spectators from the sea front, and it was noon before the fleet was seen. The royal yacht Victoria and Albert left Cowes and took King Edward through the line of the fleet.

Subsequently an array of battleships and cruisers to the number of nearly eighty unmoored, formed in two columns and passed on either side of the Victoria and Albert. All the war vessels manned ships as they passed the royal yacht.

MILLIONAIRE IN AUTO FINED.

C. W. Robinson, of Massapequa, is lightly punished for speeding. (Special to The Evening World.) BABYLON, L. I., Aug. 15.—Charles W. Robinson, a New York millionaire, and one of the Massapequa summer colony, was arrested this morning on the charge of speeding his auto above the twenty-mile-an-hour limit, and was taken before Justice Brewster, who imposed a nominal fine of $5.

He was arrested after a chase of a mile by Constable Mott, who was deputized on a wheel. Constable Mott Smith has notified the Magistrate that heavier fines must be imposed in the future.

DISCOVERER OF SEX SECRET, PROF. S. L. SCHENK, IS DEAD.

Failure of Scientists to Recognize Him Said to Have Hastened His End.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—Professor Samuel L. Schenk, who astonished the medical world in 1895 by announcing the discovery of the secret of sex before birth, is dead.

Failure to recognize his discovery by the scientists of Europe and the fact that the University of Vienna forced him to retire is believed to have caused the death of Prof. Schenk. He was regarded as one of the more eminent scientists in all Europe, and for thirty years studied that branch of science which relates to rudimentary creatures in their ante-natal existence.

Prof. Schenk declared he had discovered a treatment by which he could infallibly determine the sex of a child before its birth; that he could prevent the birth of female children, and by his treatment insure the birth of a male child.

Dr. Schenk's theory was that the sex of the child is influenced solely by the mother, and that during several stages of its development the child is sexless.

Made Public in The World.

On Jan. 11, 1898, Prof. Schenk gave to The World an exclusive interview in which he made public the results of his investigations. In that interview he declared that the sex of the child depended largely on the food and nourishment of the mother. In his investigation he found that a man's blood averages 5,000,000 corpuscles, and a woman's 4,000,000, and "all my efforts," declared Dr. Schenk, "are directed toward producing in the embryo the number of corpuscles requisite for the male."

He declared he had accomplished this by suitably nourishing the mother. In his book, the "Determination of Sex," recently published, Dr. Schenk declares that to produce male children mothers must avoid eating all starches, sugars, ice creams or other sweets and eat fruits and meat several times a day. He said meals should be eaten three times a day even as though it were

MANY MOURN FOR FATHER CARROLL.

Bishop McDonnell Sings the Requiem Mass for Him and Thousands Attend the Services.

The funeral services over Rev. Martin Carroll, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, Williamsburg, were held this morning. Solemn mass of requiem was sung by Bishop McDonnell and 300 priests of the diocese attended and sung the office of the dead. Delegations from all the parish societies were present and an immense gathering followed the hearse to Holy Cross Cemetery, where the interment took place.

Since Saturday the body of Father Carroll lay in state in the church. It was clothed in full vestment and was viewed by such throngs that the reserves of the Bedford avenue police station were on duty all Sunday to preserve order among the throng.

The attendance at the funeral was the largest ever seen in Williamsburg, with the possible exception of that of Father Malone, several years ago. It is estimated that more than 4,000 persons surrounded the church and were massed in North Sixth street, Bedford and Driggs avenues.

Priests from the dioceses of Long Island, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, District of Columbia, Delaware and elsewhere were in attendance.

PASTOR IN A CELL IS PHOTOGRAPHED

Rev. E. T. Sanford Has His Picture Taken in Prison to Use in Temperance Lecture.

Rev. E. T. Sanford, of Cavalry Baptist Church, is nothing if not original, and he added another point to his originality this morning when he put on old clothes and was placed in a cell in the Black-Sack Jail. He was then photographed with his face against the bars of the cell door, his hair disheveled and features drawn.

The picture is to be one of four to be used in Mr. Sanford's temperance lecture on the "Four Bars." To-morrow he will be photographed in the courtroom, standing before Judge Zabriske, at the bar.

The cell used to-day adjoints that of Peter Herma, who will be hanged on Friday morning for killing Bernard Kanter, a butcher, at Wallington.

CONEY VERY GOOD, SAYS PARTRIDGE.

Commissioner, After a Sunday Night Visit, Gives the Island a Certificate of Character—Found Everything Orderly.

Coney Island on Sunday night is not quite a Brooklyn Sunday-school, but it is a close second, according to Commissioner Partridge, who spent an hour along the Bowery resorts last night.

The Commissioner boarded a Surf Avenue car at Brighton Beach and stopped in Coney Island. Then he took in every place from Balmer's to the Steeplechase. He escaped detection for ten minutes, but his identity was soon learned and the tip flew up and down the island.

The barker took a reef in their vocal exploitations. Intoxicated persons were hustled into rear rooms, the Raines law sandwiches were hurriedly dusted off and noisy patrons were sharply rounded up. An unusual quiet reigned until the word again went around that the Commissioner had gone home.

"Coney Island is a nice, orderly place," said the Commissioner to-day when asked about his trip. "Everything was orderly. There was no intoxication and no unseemly noise. From the standpoint of a general observer I should say there was no violation of law."

The Commissioner refused to express an opinion from an inside view of the situation.

WARSHIP SAVED BIG OCEAN LINER.

Steamer Lost in Fog Was Heading Direct for Coast When British Ariadne Gave Danger Signals.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 15.—The British first-class cruiser Ariadne, flagship of Vice-Admiral A. L. Douglas, saved a large ocean steamer, supposed to be a Montreal liner, filled with passengers, from going ashore off Cape Race during a dense fog.

The steamer was heading direct for the coast when the warship signalled her danger.

PANIC IN TENEMENT CAUSED BY A FIRE.

Smoke Filled Hallways at No. 3 Hester Street and Excited Mothers Tried to Throw Children from Windows.

Blinded by a dense smoke, the residents of the tenement No. 3 Hester street became panic-stricken to-day during a fire in the basement. Through ignorance the person who turned in the alarm neglected to pull down the hook and the fire burned for half an hour before another alarm was sent in and the engines arrived.

The first floor of No. 3 Hester street is occupied by Abraham Siegel as a dry-goods and notion store. He uses the basement as a storeroom. The fire started among some rubbish in the sub-basement from an unknown cause.

In the four-story tenement there are more than 100 people, and when the clouds of black smoke began pouring up the stairways and into the windows there was a panic. Several mothers tried to throw their children from upper windows. Others rushed aimlessly about in danger of suffocation. A majority of the tenants went down the fire-escapes, as the halls were filled with smoke.

After the arrival of the engines the fire was soon under control. The loss will not exceed $500.

BANK WRECKER SENTENCED.

Frank C. Andrews Given Fifteen Years at Hard Labor. DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 15.—Judge Murphy in Recorder's Court to-day sentenced Frank C. Andrews, who was found guilty of misappropriating funds of the wrecked City Savings Bank to fifteen years at hard labor in Jackson Prison.

He had previously refused to grant Andrews bail pending the settlement of the bill of exceptions that his attorneys will file.

The Marvellous Purchasing Power of a Two-Dollar Bill at The Big Store To-Morrow.

If the author of that time-honored phrase, "There is nothing new under the sun," could visit the Siegel-Cooper Store these busy August days he would very materially change his opinion. New ideas are everywhere in this store. If he could visit the main aisle in the men's clothing store and see the throngs of men of all professions, all ages, all heights and weights, and see how perfectly and quickly each is fitted to a pair of new trousers at the wonderfully small price of he would agree with the majority of Greater New York's residents that there is something new at Siegel-Cooper's all the time.

The great Semi-Annual Sale of Trousers for gentlemen really needs no advertising. The sale opened last Tuesday morning as a sale of men's garments ever did during the height of the season instead of August.

The newspaper announcements were simple, straightforward and brief. There were no exaggerations—no extraordinary promises—no sacrifices.

What made men come here so spontaneously? What means this steady increase in demand day after day? Yes, particularly when trousers sales have been springing up since last Tuesday with mushroomlike growth? The was easily divined by the intelligent readers of this vast community, and these announcements are daily endorsed by the enthusiastic reports of those who were here and found "more than promised"—who found every size from 28 waist to 50 waist, and all lengths from 28 to 37 inches, and every desirable style of light, dark or fancy Trousers, and a "fit" that would baffle expert cutters.

Justice Dickey, in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, today, ordered Edward W. Brennan, attorney, of No. 171 Broadway, to show cause why he should not surrender to his client, Harry D. Baty, his decree of divorce from his wife, Gertrude, obtained in May.

Baty says he agreed to give Brennan $500 and did so, but that Brennan now wants $50 more and will not give him the paper.

FELL TO HIS DEATH CHASING PIGEONS.

Boy Convalescing from Typhoid Fever Stepped Through Skylight, and Horrified Mother Saw Him Drop.

To entertain his fifteen-year-old boy Willie, who was convalescing from typhoid fever, James Boulemeter, of No. 279 Fifth avenue, brought home a flock of trained pigeons.

The lad was chasing the pigeons about the roof of the apartment-house to-day, and in his play stepped into the glass covering of a light shaft and plunged down sixty feet to the basement area-way, crushing his skull.

The boy's mother saw him drop past her window and her screams aroused the neighborhood. The boy was dead before help reached him.
